21. (Previously Presented) A computer program product residing on a computer readable medium for producing itineraries comprises instructions for causing a computer to:

receive trip segments;

determine constraints on sequences of flights between the endpoints of the trip segments, the constraints derived from fares between the end points of the trip segments, which can be used with the flights to connect the end points of the trip segments;

generate itineraries of ~~sequences of flights~~ valid flight routes using the constraints to select which flights to include in ~~the sequences of flights of the generated itineraries~~; and price the itineraries.

40. The computer program product of claim 21 further comprises instructions to:

generate additional itineraries from flights without considering the constraints;

price the additional itineraries ~~from flights without considering the constraints and with considering the constraints~~; and return the priced additional itineraries.

- Discuss the rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) over the DeMarcken reference. Applicant's representatives would like to discuss the differences between this reference and the present application.
